2024 Changes: Ranks, Activities and Awards

Lions work on their Lions adventures to earn their Lions Badge. Lions now have belt loops.

As of 2024, Bobcat is no longer a rank and has moved to the first adventure every scout earns for their rank. Scouts typically earn one rank each grade. All ranks now have six required adventures and two electives. Scouts can earn as many electives as they like and I believe there still are awards if a scout earns all of them.

Many of the previous special awards our pack earned have moved to belt loops such as Cyber Chip, Shooting Sports, Pack Summertime Award. Religious awards remain unchanged; NOVA Awards are still recognized by our council but no longer done nationally. Cub Master Luke Glasner is Nova trained leader and can still work on the award for those interested.

Webelos and Arrow of Light (AOL) Candidates earn adventure pins that go on the webelos colors (ribbon) worn on their shoulder. Electives have been split between the two and now Arrow of Light has 8 adventures, instead of 5 as years past.

Cub Scouts are encouraged to do their best on adventure requirements; they don't have to cover every single requirement to earn it. Many of the adventures can now be earned across levels so scouts can earn them at pack activities as well as den activities.

How we keep your children safe

BSA YOUTH PROTECTION PROGRAM

The Boy Scouts of America strives to prevent child abuse through a comprehensive program, which includes:

- Mandatory Youth Protection training
- Formal leader selection process
- Criminal background checks
- Barriers to Abuse
- Mandatory reporting
- Volunteer screening database system

Video player controls: Play/Pause, Previous, Next, and TOC buttons are visible at the bottom of the video frame.

Two Deep Rule: The two deep rule states that no individual scout should ever be alone with a leader without another adult leader to witness that interaction. The only exception is if that leader is also the scout's parent.

All communications from us or any official BSA communication MUST have at least 2 leaders/adults copied on that communication.
